MORGAN CAUSES INDIGNATION

Virginians Express Their Anger at Course of Financier.

MR. CARLIN'S VIEWS.

Measures to Have Possessor of Martha Washington's Will Indicted and Brought to Virginia.

Washington, Jan. 7.—Angered by the repeated refusals of J. P. Morgan to return the will of Martha Washington to the archives of Fairfax county, from which it was stolen, the state of Virginia, through several leading citizens is planning to have the grand jury investigate the case in an effort to have Morgan indicted for larceny, and extradited to the Old Dominion.

"We will try to indict him for theft if he persists in keeping this historcal document, now that he knows that i was stolen," declared Congressman Charles C. Carlin, of Virginia. "Under the statute a man who keeps in his possession stolen propedty is a participant to the crime.

"The people of Virginia are aroused over this matter. The will is ours and we are going to have it restored to where it belongs. We can proceed by civil suit to recover the document, but that does not seem to be the popular manner advocated by Virginians since Morgan has refused to grant the request to return it. We'll go right to the grand jury and tempt to have more drastic treatment administered, if necessary."

When it became patent that Mr. Morgan was determined not to return the will, State Senator R. Ewell Thornton decided to take steps that would enable the state to proceed for its recovery. Senator Thornton reiterated today that he was already assured of sufficient votes to have the bill he will introduce for the recovery of the document pass the State legislature.

NEWS OF THE DAY

The sentences of 24 of the labor union officials, including President Frank Ryan, of the iron workers, convicted in Indianapolis of conspiracy to transport dynamite, were confirmed in Chicago yesterday by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals of the Seventh district. Six of the 30 who appealed were granted new trials. Counsel for the 24, within 30 days, will petition the court of appeals for a re-hearing on new legal points. If that is denied they will take the case to the Supreme Court of the United States.

Taken in a dying condition to Christ Hospital, Jersey City yesterday, Mrs. Mary Rooney, forty-eight, said her husband attempted to burn her alive. She alleged he poured a half pint of alcohol over her clothes and set them afire. She was burned on the neck, breast, arms, and face. Rooney told the police he and his wife had quarreled over whether they should keep or destroy an old lounge. He said the fire was an accident, and showed blistered and burned hands to prove he had smotherd the flames.

The presentation of the gift of $500,000 by the Knights of Columbus of the United States to the Catholic University, Washington, D. C., took place at the residence of Cardinal Gibbons in Baltimore yesterday. About twenty-five members of the Knights of Columbus from all over the country and a number of prominent members of the Catholic clergy were present. James A. Flaherty, supreme knight of the order in this country, made the presentation address. Cardinal Gibbons, Archbishop Prendergast, of Philadelphia, and Monsignor Shahan, rector of the Catholic University, responded. Following these speeches the cardinal entertained the visitors at lunch.

Capt. Geo. Wilson Booth, comptroller of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, and a widely known Confederate soldier, died suddenly at 7:30 o'clock last night at his home in Baltimore.

Charles C. Riley, general superintendent of transportation of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad system, embracing Balto. & Ohio, Balto. and Ohio Southwestern, Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton, the Sandy Valley and Elkhorn, and the Staten Island lines, died suddenly in Washington last night, having been stricken with a hemorrhage of the brain.

The Rev. Dr. John Poyntz Tyler, rector of St. John's Protestant Episcopal church, at Hagerstown, Md., was consecrated missionary bishop of North Dakota, yesterday. Eleven bishops and about 50 clergymen were present, many participating.

The injection of sugar into the veins of patients apparently dying from heart failure and exhaustion from various diseases not only restores the heart's action, but produces a remarkable improvement in the general condition. Such is the substance of a communication from Dr. Enriquez, of the Hospital de la Pitie, to the Academy of Medicine in Paris. The results in many cases are said to have been almost miraculous, and no ill effects were experienced.

A baby hanging head downward by its clothing from a nail under the second-story window of a Central avenue Baltimore residence here yesterday stated several men who were passing. Hurriedly improvising a safety net in the form of an overcoat to catch the little one if it should fall, they called to a neighbor woman to run upstairs and rescue the child from its perilous position. The woman succeeded in reaching the baby in time to prevent it from falling. The police were informed that the young mother of the baby, while laboring under nervous excitement, had hurled it from the window, but that its clothing happened to catch on the nail and its life was saved. The woman, said to be from Emmitsburg, and child were taken in charge by relatives.

MAY AGAIN DELAY DEBT SETTLEMENT

Talk of Ancient Debt of Virginia to United States Government.

SPRING NEW FEATURE.

Twenty-Six Million Dollars Surplus Were Distributed When Jackson Dissolved National Bank.

Richmond, Va., Jan. 7.—A new feature was introduced into the Virginia-West Virginia debt case yesterday when it was definitely established that the state is indebted to the United States government for over two million dollars, the greater part of which sum was used for internal improvements in the territory now known as West Virginia.

This fact leads many to believe West Virginia liable for her share of the amount even though that territory was a part of Virginia at the time the money was deposited in the State treasury for safekeeping. It is thought that the neighboring State would bitterly oppose contributing toward the payment of the sum and would use it as an argument for postponing the settlement of the debt case.

Virginia's nidebtednes sto the government amounts to $2,198,427.99, the total of the sum of money placed with the state government in 1836, when there was a surplus of something over $126,000,000.

This debt may play an important part in the settlement of the Virginia-West Virginia debt case should the treasury department call on the Virginia government to repay that amount. State accountant Smythe said yesterday that his records show that $450,000 of the sum deposited in the state treasury was deposited by it in Norfolk and the remaning sum of $1,748,427.99 was sent to Wheeling, now a West Virginia city. The money deposited in Norfolk was used for the general expenses of maintaining State government, while that deposited in Wheeling went for internal improvements.

The announcement that Virginia, among other States, is indebted to the Federal government for large sums sent out from Washington about the middle of December and at that time officials of the State government have expressed themselves as believing that no such debt existed; that the indebtedness of Virginia to the United States government and vice versa, had been settled in 1903 with the settlement of the Choctaw Indian land debts. However, State Accountant Smythe has been makin ga more exhaustive examination of the records since that time and yesterday announced that he had discovered records of the deal and that there is nothing existing to show that the State government has ever returned the amount placed in its keeping by the United States treasury.

Officials of the state government say that it is very likely there will be a merry mix-up between the representatives of the two states should the government call for payment of the old debt. The Virginia officials say that should the state have to pay this sum West Virginia will be expected to contribute her part of the amount, and they believe that officials of that state will object on the grounds that as West Virginia is not a part of Virginia no claims can be held against it.

At the New Year's reception given under the auspices of the Allison W. C. T. U., a prize was offered to the boy who wrote the best New Year's resolution. There were 50 entries and many of them were very excellent. The judges have decided that No. 9 was the best and is therefore the winner. The writer of resolution No. 9, will please send his name to the Gazette Office.

LUNCHEON AND CABARET.

Tomorrow's Entertainment by Anti-Tuberculosis Society.

The entertainment which the Anti-Tuberculosis Society has arranged for tomorrow, is their annaul one for the raising of funds with which to help carry on the work of the society, a most important part of which is the Visiting Nurse. There is no philanthropic work in Alexandria, which is more the cause of all the people than is that of the Visiting Nurse. The town needs her and wants her, she is indeed "our nurse."

The board of the society are however only the intermediaries to put into operation the desire of the community that nursing care be given to the sick and unfortunate of the city. If you are interested, a most excellent way to show it, is to go to the Southern Lunch which will be served at the Young People's Building, tomorrow from twelve to three, and in the evening to the cabaret in the auditorium of the Elks. Be assured you will at both get your money's worth, and will never have spent it in a better cause.

Members of the board who compose the lunch committee are: Miss McDonald, Mrs. D. J. Howell, Mrs. William J. Boothe, Mrs. Thomas Robinson, Mrs. C. C. Leadbeater, Mrs. William Campbell, Mrs. William Wattles, Mrs. Henry Wattles, and Miss Cummings, assisted by Mrs. William B. Smoot, Mrs. George Uhler, Mrs. George French, Mrs. Louis Barley, Miss Phil Wattles, and Mrs. Potts, Mrs. Foster.

The tables will be in charge of Mrs. William A. Smoot, Jr., Mrs. Gardner Boothe, Mrs. T. B. Cochran, Mrs Dunn, Mrs. Stewart Jamieson, Mrs. Ben Wheatley, Mrs. Fred Paff, Mrs. George Evans, Mrs. Anderson Summers, Mrs. T. Marshall Jones, Mrs. Brill, Mrs. Richard Gibson, Mrs. Stabler, Miss Stribling and Miss Nannie Norton.

Tickets for the cabaret are on sale at E. L. Allen & Co., Edgar Warfield, Jr., Richard Gibson, and W. P. Taylor.

COMING POULTRY SHOW.

Many Entries for Next Week—More Expected.

The Poultry Show, now only a week off, promises to be a success in every way. Many entries have already been made and every mail brings in more. By rare good luck, the management have secured the services of Messrs. George O. Brown and William J. Caines as judges.

Mr. Brown, who is general superintendent of the Baltimore Poultry Show, has for years been one of the most prominent poultry judges in America, having been selected one of the judges at the World's Fair at Chicago, in 1892.

Mr. Caines, well-known as a breeder, has for some time refused to give his time to judging, being too busy with his own birds.

Local raisers are urged to get their entries in at once, as this will greatly lighten the work of the secretary.

A meeting will be held Friday night and every poultry man is invited to attend.

WORK OF PRUNING MONEY DEMANDS

Senate Finance Committee is Busy in Examining State Needs.

HEARINGS CLOSED.

Efforts Will Be Made to Limit Commonwealth Budget to $6,700,000 Per Annum.

Richmond, Va., Jan. 7.—The finance committee of the State Senate, which had hearings in Richmond before Christmas preparatory to drawing up an appropriation bill to be reported early in the legislative session, reconvened last night in the State capitol in executive session. No person will be given audience by the committee except Adjutant General Sale and Commissioner Rhea, of the State Corporation Commission, who were not able to complete their estimates of money need on their original appearance before the committee.

Several supplicants appeared in the audience chamber last night, but were informed of the fixed determination of the committee to not further prolong the hearings. The Senators having before them solemn requests for much more money than will be available for appropriation, settled down with the pruning knives to make the aspirations of educational boards and State departments conform with the state's revenue.

It was said last night that the committee was about determined to fix $6,700,000 a year as the limit of expenditures by this general assembly. The 1912 legislature made appropriations of about $6,485,000, and the senate committee figures on $200,000 increase in revenue during the two-year periods.

Those who were present were: Senators, Echols, Garrett, Holt, Harman, Earley, Fletcher, Lesner, Massie, Moncure, Rhinehart, Wendenburg, and West, Senator Sowder is expected to arrive in the city today. He is the last member of the committee to come in.

NO BAN FOR TANGO

Bishop of Richmond Says Virginians Can be Trusted.

Baltimore, Jan. 7.—Bishop Dennis O'Connell, of the Richmond diocese, will place no ban on dances now in vogue in America. He will not approve them, but on the other hand will not issue an order prohibiting the dance from being danced. In approaching of the tango and the modern dances the bishop said:

"Chivalry is far from being dead in Virginia, and in all the rest of the South, and while it lives and flourishes, I shall not feel called upon to place a ban upon dancing among the Catholics of the diocese of Richmond. Virginians do not indulge in dances that are immodest or indecent. Neither do they indulge in dances that are productive of immodesty or indecency. The men there have too wholesome a respect for the dignity of womanhood and the women are too jealous of their high estate to permit the self-respect in either or sex to be trailed in the dust of sensual dances."

Spanish Vessel Said to Have Drawn Near Oklahoma.

THRILLING RESCUES.

Sailors Glide Down Ropes Into Small Boat While Rescuers Keep it From Capsizing.

Boston, Jan. 7.—A Spanish steamer which sighted the wrecked Oklahoma off Sandy Hook early Sunday, "fooled around some more and finally picked up the boat and went away," according to Captain Alfred Gunther, who, with seven members of the crew of the ill-fated Oklahoma, arrived in Boston early today aboard the Hamburg-American liner Bavaria.

Members of the Oklahoma's crew rescued by the Bavaria were badly battered and storm-beaten, scarcely a man without some injury, but they were anxious today to hear the fate of ther companions and were bitter in their comment on the actions of the Spanish liner Manuel Calvo. The German officers and men who braved a terrific sea to same them as they clung to the wrecked ship deserve Carnegie hero medals, according to Captain Gunther. The plucky Germans took their lives in their hands. Gunther said, and neithre the rescued nor the rescuers were certain of safety until they were pulled aboard the Bavaria.

BOYS IN MUTINY.

Boys Plan to Whip Teacher But Get Worst of it.

Kinston, N. C., Jan. 7.—A complication of troubles, including a law suit, have come out of the attempt of school boys to thrash the master at a rural school in the Bullhead section of Greene county. H. B. Jeffries, a boy school teacher of Asheville, came to the district six weeks ago to assume charge of the school. He made himself obnoxious to three of the most stalwart of his male pupils and they "framed up" to whip him. The stripling teacher heard of the conspiracy and prepared for emergencies.

When the trio of mutineers stalked into the school house and sullenly accosted Jeffries, he set upon them singly and collectively with substantial hickory switches. One of the boys alleges that he sat down upon the stove and the other two declare that in their frenzy they hugged the stove pipe, adding to their pains. The affair created no end of trouble in the district.

All three of the lads are sons of committeemen, and his victory cost the schoolmaster his job. He appealed to Debnam, the county superintendent, who upheld the committeemen. It appears, though, that Jeffries was not without friends, for every patron of the school save the committeemen signed a petition requesting that he be retained. Now Jeffries has gone home and a lawyer has been employed by him to sue for his salary for the remainder of the term.

WANTS LAWS ENFORCED

Mayor Fisher Calls Attention of Police to Certain City Ordinances

In pursuance of his policy to enforce the laws of the city to the best of his ability, Mayor Thomas A. Fisher has sent a communication to Chief of Police Goods calling his attention to the fact that certain ordinances of the city council are often violated. Throwing trash into the streets, expectorating upon the sidewalks, and the assembling of children around moving picture shows are especially mentioned by his honor. He states that there are other ordinances which are violated with impunity, attention to which will be called in other communications.

The mayor, while not anxious for drastic measures against thoughtless people in the community, is firm in in his purpose to have the laws of the city enforced, and all good citizens will heartily approve of his endeavors to fulfill the obligations he took upon himself when he assumed his office. The assembling of noisy youngsters at any point in the city is in violation of law, and parents should vie with the authorities in bringing about better conditions. The casting of trash into the streets is a practice which should cease at once. Our streets are often rendered dangerous to pedestrians, (especially at night) by banana and orange rinds, and persons who deliberately cast such menaces to life and limb on sidewalks should be taught better manners by fines. The following is the Mayor's communication:

Alexandria, Va., Jan. 6, 1914.
Chas. T. Goods, Chief of Police,
Alexandria, Va.

Dear Sir:—January in each year is said to be "The Time' for good resolutions. I have in mind and have had for some time the purpose of calling your attention and through you, the police force to the indifference upon the part of our citizens as well as the thoughtless, to what may be termed police regulations of laws regarding our streets. I have not done so up to this time for the reason that it was not my desire to try to correct in a day, week or month, evils that have been long tolerated. It is not my purpose now to refer to one or two, others I will note from time to time. There is a law as to throwing trash, paper, etc., in the streets and alleys There is a law as to expectorating on the sidewalks. A proper observance of these laws would improve conditions. A correction of these evils can be brought about in a sensible and conservative maner. First, by admonitions, then by a threat to arrest, and then by arrest of offenders. In the trial of any such offenders, I am sure the Police Justice will not make the punishment greater than the circumstances incident to the offence may disclose upon the trial of such cases. Recently the Police Commissioners called attention to the number of children which nightly hang around the moving picture shows. For a few nights there was some improvement. There is no reason why children or any others should be allowed to collect around these places. I intend to call attention to these matters as well as others only once. Laws as passed by the City Council, if only to be enforced for a few days, soon become dead letters.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE LEAGUE

Alexandria Organization Preparing for Fight for Votes for Women

The Alexandria Equal Suffrage League is taking an active part in the preparations for the fight for women suffrage which will be opened on next Wednesday in Richmond, when the State Legislature convenes for its biennial session and when this question will be one of the most important to be considered by the Virginia solons. Petitions have been extensively circulated throughout the Eighth congressional district, and many prominent lawyers, doctors and bankers have signed the documents requesting the legislature to take favorable action on the plea of the women for the right to the ballot. More than 300 well known business and professional men in Alexandria signed the petitions.

Hon. J. Fred Birrell, member of the house of delegates from Alexandria city and county, has been besieged with delegations of women asking that he support the measure which will be introduced in the coming session. He has not committed himself to their request but has promised to give the subject consideration.

TEAM WORK ESSENTIAL TO GOOD SERVICE
In all telephone work cooperation is the keynote of good service. You can help the service by answering your telephone promptly. Any incoming message may be of the utmost importance to you.
Be slow to blame the operator for "don't answer" or "busy" reports. In the first case, the operator cannot force the party to answer; in the second, she must wait until the called party, or some one on his line, gets through talking with another party before she can connect you.
It is easier for the operator to give you a connection than to test and report "busy."

PRODUCING "THE MOVIES."

One of the most interesting experiences in a recent European trip by an Alexandrian, was watching the operation of making a moving picture film at Heidelberg Castle. As the tourists approached the castle they saw a large concourse of persons, in mediaeval dress, gathered at the castle gate. At first they could hardly believe their eyes. It seemed as if it must be a dream. But these were no dream peaople, as the activity and the noise and motion soon dispelied the thought of a dream. It was one of the large German film companies who were engaged in making classic reproductions of historic scenes. The subject of this film was "The Minstrel's Curse." In a few moments a bob tailed horse that stood near had been transformed by its trappings into a mediaeval steed. Upon it sat an old patriarchial minstrel, holding in his hands a harp. The horse was led by a young minstrel, and upon his back was a beautiful show girl from a neighboring town, whose blond hair and tinted complexion was toned down to suit the occasion.

The postern gate was opened and after some parley the portcullis swung up and the castle yard was seen in all the bustle and life that would have characterized it in the middle ages.

One after the other the scenes followed in rapid succession until the closing one when the old minstrel came out of the castle, bearing in his arms the slain boy, turned and pronounced his curse upon the castle and its godless inhabitants. Breaking his golden harp he flung himself down beside the body of his child and he too, died. In a moment the scene had shifted and we were once again in the twentieth century. It took several minutes to gain our natural poise and not feel that we were in fairy or dream land.

The making of films is today not only one of the most expensive but also one of the most esthetic lines of activity. Anything will pass upon the stage. If an awkward pause comes it can be quickly overcome by the movement of an actor, but the photographic lense depicts everything with cruel exactness. Therefore every detail must be perfect. The posing, the expression, the tiniest fold of drapery must be as it should be seen.

When Forbes Robertson posed as Hamlet for the films a castle was rented at a cost of $75,000 and 400 people were costumed for their purposes. The entire expenditure amounted to $250,000, but they sold 3,000,000 feet of the films for $750,000.

One of the most expensive films ever made was that of the "Tiger Hunt, costing nearly $300,000, but it was sold for 25 cents a foot. The anarctic films of Capt. Scott cost $250,000, but the royalty already collected by Mrs. Scott amounts to more than the original expense.

Of all the forms of commercialized amusement none are more capable of being of value to the world than "the movies." They appeal to all classes and as a form of amusement and education combined have no equal. No class of persons are more interested in getting the most out of them than the manufacturers themselves. Like the picture post card, if debased to immoral and degrading purposes, they will lose their popularty and be forced to vacate the field for some other form of amusement that will not be harmful.

It lies in the hands of the general public whether they shall be of value or not. If the picture houses that show good educational films are popular and good money-makers all others will be sure to follow their lead. Municipal regulations and boards of censors can do much to keep them clean but public sentiment can do infinitely more.

The people, old and young, must have amusement. Until the times comes when to furnish this amusement is looked upon as one of the legitimate avenues of municipal activity, we must depend upon our commercialized amusement. The backers of all commercialized amusement are in it, not for the good of the people, but to gather in the sheckles. We cannot blame them for this, but we can blame ourselves if we do continue to patronize the class of shows that are harmful and immoral.

DAY OF THE BOY IS DAWNING.

On New Year's night the Allison W. C. T. U., inaugurated a service that should be repeated every year. It was the entertainment given to the young men and boys of the city. Although it was the first service of this kind ever held in Alexandria, and the object not well understood, more than fifty boys and young men gathered. After listening to inspiring talks and given all they could eat of delicious refreshments each was handed a fair, white leaf, upon which they were asked to write their resolutions for the new year and to turn over a "new leaf." Each leaf was numbered and a prize was offered to the boy making the best resolutions. A number of leaves were handed in, all of them bearing high purposes, couched in a boyish language. It was hard for the judges to decide which resolution deserved the prize, so many of them were excellent, and all of them deserve honorable mention. After careful consideration, the prize was awarded to No. 9. The boy to whom this number belongs will kindly call at the Gazette office for the prize which is a year's subscription to the Youth's Companion or any other periodical the winner may select. This prize is given by the Alexandria Gazette.]

We believe that every boy who wrote a resolution will try to live up to it, but if nothing further came of the meeting than that the boys were gathered together under such auspices and were stimulated to make the resolution, it amounted to much.

Judge Lindsey says there is no such thrig as a bad boy, only a good boy gone wrong, often because of lack of proper influence.

The day of the boy is dawning, when he shall receive the consideration and training in social qualifications that will make them not only great factor in the industrial life of the community but in its spiritual and ethical development as well.

Four children were trampled to death and 18 others seriously injured Monday night in San Juan, P. R., in a stampede which occurred at the opening of the municipal theatre to admit the crowd of people who had come to attend the annual celebration of the day of the Three Kings. At this festival a large quantity of gifts is distributed to the poor children.

NEWS OF THE OLD DOMINION

PLAN IS PRACTICAL.

Board of Visitors Think it Should Take Initiatory Steps.

Charlottesville, Va., Jan. 7.—In resolutions adopetd at its meeting, the board of visitors of the University of Virginia puts on record its belief that the first step toward the establishment of a co-ordinate college for women should be taken by the General Assembly. The board declined to take definite action, either for or against the proposed co-ordinate school for the higher education of women,, contenting itself with the statement of its belief "that one practical and effcient mode of meeting this need would be found in the creation of a woman's college co-ordinate with the university." Beyond that the board did not go, except to outline a method of further procedure, which it thinks should be the appointment of a commission by the General Assembly to "make a thorough and searching investigation and a careful and detailed examination into the costs of founding and maintaining such college."

The resolutions are in close accord with the bill for the establishment of a woman's college at the University which will be introduced in the State Senate under the joint patronage of Senators Early, Rison, and Wendenburg. The friends of the bill claim that it has been conservatively prepared, and that in many respects it meets the objection raised to the Early-Rison bill, which was before the session of 1912. The final draft of the bill has been approved by a committee, consisting of Wyndham R. Meredith, S. Dabney Crenshaw and Dr. J. A. C. Chandler, of Richmond; William B. McIllwaine, of Petersburg, and Mrs. B. B. Munford and Miss Virginia McKenney, of the Virginia Co-Operative Education Association.

The question of establishing a coordinate college came before the board of visitors for fresh consideration early in December, when a number of people spoke for and against the establishment of such an institution near the university.

It is understood that several resolutions were before the board, representing the various views of groups of members. It is also said that a majority of the board was in favor of any set of resolutions that approved a co-ordinate college for women near the university, but that it was difficult to unite upon any one view of the situation.

A late phase of the issue has been the apparent determination to insure a physical separation between the university, as it now exists, and the co-ordinate college, which it is proposed to call into existence, so that no educational reason would require the presence on the present campus of any student of the woman's school. This thought was embodied in the resolutions as finally passed.

When the board assembled at the president's office yesterday, all of the members, except R. Tate Irvine, of Big Stane Gap, were present. Mr. Irvine came in later in the afternoon. The other members are Armistead C. Gordon, of Staunton; John W. Craddock, of Lynchburg; Henry D. Flood, of Appomattox, Judge J. K. M. Norton, of Alexandria; William H. White, of Richmond; William F. Drewry, of Petersburg; Walter T. Oliver, of Fairfax; George R. B. Michie, of Charlottesville; R. C. Stearnes, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, and Dean Page, of the University.

CARPENTER KILLS HIMSELF.

Officers Waiting When Virginian Commits Suicide.

Petersburg, Va., Jan. 7.—Nathan Green, a carpenter, 40 years old, of Matoaca, Chesterfield county, blew the top of his head off with a load from a shotgun at home early yesterday morning when officers appeared to place him under arrest on a complaint filed by his wife.

Green had been drinking and threatened to kill his wife. She spent the night at a neighbor's, swearing out the warrant for his arrest, which the officers sought to carry out this morning. Green met the officers and said: "All right; I'll be with you in a minute." He stepped into the house and killed himself. His widow and five children survive him.

Death of Samuel A. Gentry.

Petersburg, Va., Jan. 7.—Samuel A. Gentry, son of the late William H. and Mary Clement Gentry, died at 3:30 o'clock Monday afternoon at his home, the residence of his brother, E. M. Clements, in Liberty street.

Mr. Gentry was in his thirty-sixth year of age and was highly esteemed by a wide circle of friends. He had been associated with his brother, E. M. Clements, owner of the "Daily Progress," since its first issue in 1888, until his health failed him about five years ago.

HELD FOR THEFT ON SHIP.

Request for Police to Meet Liner Causes of Mutiny.

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 7.—Messages requesting that policemen and deputy United States marshals be at the pier upon arrival of the Merchants and Miners steamer Gloucester from Boston, last night gave rise to the belief that there had been a mutiny on board.

When the Gloucester docked about midnight, the passengers were at first not allowed to land, but when it was learned that the reason for the request was because there had been systematic stealing going on among the crew the passengers were permitted to come ashore. Five men were arrested and held for action by Federal authorities.

BANQUET FOR GLASS.

Lynchburg to Honor Congressman for Work on Currency Law.

Lynchburg, Va., Jan. 7.—Arrangements have been completed for a dinner to be given by the commercial bodies of Lynchburg to Representative Carter Glass here, January 17, as a mark of appreciation of Mr. Glass' connection with the recent currency legislation.

Following the dinner Mr. Glass will go to a theater, where he will speak to his fellow townsmen. An effort was made to have President Wilson here, but he advised the committee today that it would be impossible.

Turnbull is Out of Race.

Petersburg, Va., Jan. 7.—The news is received here that ex-Congressman Robert Turnbull, from the Fourth district, will not be a candidate for re-election. While this information is not direct, it is believed that Mr. Turnbull has decided not to enter the race for congress again, owing to his physical condition. Mr. Turnbull has many friends here, who are satisfied that should his physical condition permit, he would again be elected to congress, and who have urged upon him from time to time that he should again enter the race.

There are several other aspirants from the district, one of whom it is believed to be a Petersburger, and the general opinion is that Congressman Watson will have strong opposition for re-election next fall.
